Best Of STYLE | Best Meal Under $10 | Saladworks

This ever-growing chain has been serving up deliciously cheap salads for 20 years, thanks to founder and gourmet chef John Scardapane.

With five locations on Market Street alone, Saladworks boasts convenience, low prices and low calories. Their philosophy may be that they'd rather be the best than the biggest, but the ubiquitous eatery succeeds at both with hefty portions of fresh, made-to-order salads. With front-line assembly and homemade dressings, there's zero mystery when it comes to your meal. As a cost-efficient and yummy precursor to your expensive happy hour margaritas, order the Fiesta salad, topped with grilled chicken breast, tomatoes, black olives, cheddar cheese and tortilla chips. Once again, thank you for your participation.
